PRO TIPS

preparing for finals
and grading

FA and NF grades will be a grading option this year. FA should be used when a student fails your course for reasons of poor attendance. An LDA will be required. If a student never attends your course, you will need to use the NF grade, and the system will default to the appropriate LDA (the day prior to the start of courses). If a student fails your course for poor performance, an F should be issued as the grade for the student.
